

Global wins Aviation Security Contract for XL Airways France

New York - May 21, 2010 — Beginning today, XL Airways France has engaged Global Elite Group to provide security services for its flights to John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York.

XL Airways France is a French airline based at Charles de Gaulle International Airport and is part of the XL Leisure Group. The carrier operates scheduled flights mainly to long-haul destinations in Africa and the Middle East and charter flights to medium-haul destinations in the Mediterranean, while also serving destinations in the Caribbean. After a successful operation in the summer of 2009, XL Airways France is re-introducing seasonal flights to JFK this summer.

Through its consulting division, Global Elite Group provided services to XL Airways France related to compliance in order to obtain permission to operate to the US. Global Elite Group will also be providing security and emergency response support services at John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York.

Global will work closely with XL Airways France's Aviation Security Department and the JFK Airport Management team to provide specialist functions including:

- Aircraft Security
- Ramp Security
- Catering Security
- Baggage Security
- Emergency Response Support

Working with its aviation clients, Global has been recognized for its unique approach to providing custom security solutions. Global provides customer oriented professional services and ensures that effective security and regulatory compliance is delivered.
